Meeting the World Through Language and Culture

Institute of International Education

Creating a Civilized World

Kyung Hee University has academic exchanges with 620 sister universities in 94 countries. Each year, IIE provides Korean language and cultural education to 6,000 foreigners and overseas Koreans in more than 100 countries.

The Korean language program at Kyung Hee University's Institute of International Education was launched in 1993 and educates the Korean language and culture to 6,000 foreign and overseas Korean students from more than 100 countries every year. It promotes the Korean language and culture through various events such as the Korean language helper system, the World Korean Language Speech Contest for Foreigners, and the Kyung Hee International Festival. Now that the world is connected as one, Kyung Hee University's Institute of International Education is communicating with the world through high-quality Korean language and Korean cultural education.

The Institute of International Education at Kyung Hee University is the world's best Korean and Foreign Language educational institution.

Jung Sup Kim, Dean of IIE

The future of humanity is darkening due to numerous problems, such as the climate crisis, rapid technological development, global inequality, and the spread of infectious diseases. Even in the rapid changing transformational period in civilization, our mission to 'create a cultural world', which is the founding spirit of 'Kyung Hee', remains unchanged. As global citizens, we can communicate, cooperate, and open a 'better future.' We can solve global challenges together by respecting and helping one another, and thus, grow into 'global leaders' who lead the future. Based on years of experience and trust, we assure you that Kyung Hee University's Institute of International Education will do its best to support you and your Korean and Foreign language learning experiences. By fulfilling its responsibilities, we will contribute to the prosperity of a global community.

2024 is a meaningful year to mark the 31th anniversary of the establishment of the Korean language program at the Institute of International Education. It is over half a century if including 54 years of education in foreign languages. The founding vision and goal of education is to be able to freely express one's feelings and opinions in a language other than one's native language, and to explore the culture and academia in depth that has continued to this day.

The Institute of International Education has an academic network consisting of over 150 excellent teachers and staff. Also, about 500 language education experts worldwide are included. In addition to Korean, various foreign language education courses, including English, Chinese, Japanese, Spanish, Vietnamese, and French, are conducted online and offline.

We also cooperate closely with other fields of study, companies, and related organizations through languages. We are expanding the horizon of language education through convergence and consilience. And continuously researching and developing to optimize our 'learner-centered customized curriculum.' We will also make an effort to develop an online platform to access excellent curricula in Korean and foreign languages, cultures, and academics, which will allow learning whenever and wherever- moving beyond time and physical constraints.

The name of the main gate of Kyung Hee University is 'Deungyongmun.' As the legend says, a fish becomes a dragon if it passes through the 'Yongmun,' the Institute of International Education will be the starting point for you to a 'better future.'

Thank you.

International Korean Language Speech Contest for Foreigners

In 1998, the Institute of International Education held the first Korean speaking contest for foreigners in Korean universities and has been holding it every year. Foreigners from all over the world participate in the event covering various themes on Korean language and Korean culture, and prizes such as the Minister of Culture, Sports and Tourism Award and Kyung Hee University President's Award are awarded to the best. The Korean language speaking contest is reported through YouTube, TV broadcasts, and newspapers. Through the Korean language, Koreans and people from all over the world understand and connect with each other, contributing to the globalization of the Korean language.

Korean Language Textbooks

'Kyung Hee Korean' is the latest textbook, completed in 2020, and consists of 19 books divided into 6 levels including Beginner 1, 2, Intermediate 1, 2, Advanced 1, 2, etc. The textbooks for each level are divided into three volumes: grammar, listening and speaking, reading, and writing. In particular, 'Kyung Hee Korean First Step' has been published separately for beginners to learn Korean and first-time learners can learn Korean easily and in a fun way.

In addition, as the grammar section is published as a separate textbook, it allows learners to systematically study Korean grammar. In addition, listening, speaking, reading, and writing textbooks are also published as separate textbooks, so you can improve your Korean communication skills in an organic and integrated way.

The entire volume of 'Kyung Hee Korean' is published as paper books and e-books. E-books also have MP3 files or video clips (movies) which can be played. Also, functions such as taking notes and searching can be used to assist learning. E-books with multimedia and learning aids help you learn Korean more effectively. For paper books, you can scan the QR code in the textbook or download multimedia files from the Kyung Hee Korean website (klb.khu.ac.kr) to use MP3 files and video clips.
